What are the differences between work for Distance Learning in the spring and Distance Learning this fall?

- In the spring, our Distance Learning was based primarily off of collaborative packets that could easily be converted to paper copies or to online assignments.
- We did not have a unified online work submission system that worked well for cadets. Over the summer, staff worked to set up Google Classroom, which is a much more user-friendly platform for online collaboration and distance learning. It also allows for quick and authentic feedback on student work from the teacher.
- We recognize that we are still working out the last few kinks, but that is to be expected as we launch a new system for the school year. Please continue to let us know where you need help.

How will paper copies of online assignments work this fall?

- For paper copies of work this fall, we are happy to have items printed and distributed, however, it is important to know that the assignments are being created by specific teachers for that individual class, not put together as a unified packet. We know that some things are easier on paper, and we want to support that.

What is the best way to submit assignments this fall?

- We want to highly encourage that completed work is submitted online, either via Google Classroom (biggest preference) or emailed to the teacher.
- Cadets that complete work on paper are welcome to take a picture and send it in or upload it to Google Classroom, or email it. Or, if it is a writing assignment, cadets are welcome to type it up after they have hand written it.
- When work is turned in via the bus distribution system, the feedback to cadets about their work or corrections is very slow. This will potentially slow down academic progress because the cadet has moved on to new assignments before they receive feedback on the old assignments.
- Feedback from teachers to cadets is essential for academic growth and success.

What do we do if we don't have good internet access?

- For families with limited internet access/capacity, we do have T-Mobile hotspots available to check out.
- If these are not working in your area, please contact your Battalion Commander for assistance with alternative options

When do we need to let the school know we want paper copies of work?

- If you would like to make a new request for paper copies of work, please do so no later than Wednesday at noon. Any requests that come in after that time will not be included in the next day's distribution.

Tell us more about Library Book Distributions!

- Staff is working hard to catalog library books for distribution. We will be ready to start distributing around the week of October 4th
- Library books will be distributed on Fridays with work distribution

Paper Copies of Work AND Library Book Distribution Database

- Please fill out this Google Form that asks all families to pick a route in the event that whole-class hard copy materials are being distributed - allows us to easily set up distribution and library book distribution
 - We do want to create a database for all families in regards to work distribution. There will be times when an instructor wants to send out a physical copy of a book for a class to read, or a textbook, or a longer article, etc. By having one database, this will streamline that process, and will be less time consuming for families because we won't need to send out a survey request every time something needs to get distributed.
 - Please take a moment to complete the above Google Form, and select the distribution stop and time you will use if needed
 - Completing the form does not mean that you are signed up for paper distribution. This is just for us to be prepared for future distributions.
 - We will use these same stops for library book distribution on Wednesdays.

What stops and times will be used for work and library book distribution?
